Select Home Designs Launches Canadian House Plans Web Site

The industry's leading source for the information, insight, products and data that professional builders "need to succeed" launches a Canadian house plans Web site.

Washington, D.C. January 18, 2010 – Hanley Wood, LLC, the leading media company serving the residential and commercial construction industries, announces the launch of their Select Home Designs Web site (www.selectfloorplans.ca). Since 1948, Select Home Designs has been the premier provider of home plans in Canada—and the only company with a truly national selection of plan designs, styles and types appropriate for all regions of the country.

"Until today, Select Home Designs have only been available in print magazines found on newsstands, at national lumber yards and through the "Plan of the Week" feature in The Toronto Star newspaper syndicate", said David Rook, General Manager for Select Home Designs. "This meant that we could only showcase a small fraction of our entire plans portfolio", he added.

The all-new Select Home Designs Web site features more than 2,300 single family house plans, multi-family plans, garages, decks, landscape plans, and projects plans from leading residential designers and architects. Popular house plan collections have been organized to correspond with the discerning tastes of Canadian plan shoppers. Select's new Web site features sophisticated search tools which allow visitors to filter plans by type, style, bedrooms, bathrooms, square footage and more. Among its other features, Select offers home plan customization services, a low-price guarantee and a unique cost-to-build estimating service.
