PRO AV, ARCHITECT and InfoComm International Announce New Partnership for PRO AV's Third Annual Spotlight Awards

Washington, D.C. January 20, 2010 – PRO AV, the leading magazine and website serving the commercial audio/video industry; InfoComm International, the trade association representing the commercial AV industry and producer of InfoComm, the world's largest audiovisual tradeshow; and ARCHITECT magazine, serving 60,000 commercial and institutional architects, announced a joint partnership to produce the Third Annual PRO AV Spotlight Awards.

The PRO AV Spotlight Awards are the preeminent design competition for professional AV installations, recognizing outstanding planning, integration, and collaboration in commercial, corporate, education, residential, and other AV applications. Entrants include AV consultants, integrators, and architects/designers who work together on both large- and small-scale projects.

"We're excited to be partnering with InfoComm on the 2010 Spotlight Awards," said Brad Grimes, Editor of PRO AV and PRO AV Online (www.proavmagazine.com). "In its first two years, the Spotlight Awards program exceeded all our expectations. Teaming up with the industry's top AV trade association will take the Spotlight Awards to a whole new level. We look forward to recognizing the best AV installations during InfoComm."

PRO AV and InfoComm International will host a ceremony to recognize the winners at the InfoComm 2010 trade show in Las Vegas, June 9-11.

"InfoComm is pleased to be partnering with PRO AV and ARCHITECT on the Spotlight Awards," said Randal A. Lemke, Ph.D., Executive Director and CEO, InfoComm International. "We believe that this program will provide valuable recognition to members of the AV systems integration and design consultant community."

"The PRO AV Spotlight Awards recognize the best of the best in commercial AV installations," said Jon Yoffie, Associate Publisher of PRO AV. "We are very pleased that InfoComm has recognized the importance of the Spotlight Awards and will be involved with us in the expanding the program's visibility and stature among AV pros and architects."

For more information on the PRO AV Spotlight Awards, visit proavawards.com, and view past award winners at proavmagazine.com/Spotlights2009. Winning projects will be recognized during InfoComm 2010 in Las Vegas, presented in PRO AV, ARCHITECT, and ARCHITECTURAL LIGHTING magazines, and featured online in a multimedia presentation.
